Damage Caused By Golf Balls

Escaping Balls

The game of golf involves certain risks. Occasionally a golf ball escapes its intended path and inadvertently strikes and damages an object. If you or your property is damaged by an errant golf ball, you may be eligible to file a claim under either the Military Claims Act or the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Status of Forces Agreement.

The Military Claims Act (MCA)

This statute applies to United States citizens and their dependents residing in Germany for the purpose of supporting the United States Armed Forces in Europe. If you are a service member, a Department of the Army Civilian employee, or dependent you can file a claim for personal injury or property damage at any military installation.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization Status Of Forces Agreement (NATO SOFA)

If you are a German citizen or a foreign national who is a resident of Germany you can file a claim under the NATO SOFA. No standard written format is required. However, you must provide a written statement indicating how the damage occurred and the claimed amount in United States dollars. You must provide notice within 90 days of the incident.

Any bills, statements, or estimates of repair may be submitted at a later date if they are not available within 90 days of the incident that gave rise to the claim.

What to do in case of a golf ball damage?

- Notify golf course personnel and/or the Military Police
- Take pictures of the damage if possible
- Contact the Patton Claims Office and pick up a claims packet
