U.S. Army, Europe celebrates U.S. Army's 232nd Birthday

HEIDELBERG, Germany – Several hundred boots were on the ground to watch Gen. David D. McKiernan, Commanding General, United States Army Europe and Seventh Army, cut a birthday cake to mark the Army's 232nd birthday Thursday during a celebration at Campbell Barracks here, themed, "Call to Duty... Boots on the Ground... Army Strong."

General McKiernan was assisted in the cake-cutting by (Right) Private 1st Class Aislinn Amig, 18, a financial management technician assigned to the 18th Engineering Brigade who has been a service member for 10 months, and (Left) Command Sgt. Major Duwayne M. Larsen, 57, a continuous process improvement facilitator for USAREUR G-8, who has 34 years of service. The two Soldiers represented USAREUR's youngest and oldest Soldiers. The celebration featured music from the USAREUR band's brass quintet and the USAREUR Soldiers Chorus.
